ANNOUNCEMENT
Subject: Impartiality Policy
Validation and Verification Body for Greenhouse Gases (VVB)

Policy Statement

- (1) The Validation and Verification Body (VVB) shall establish processes for assessing impartiality and managing risks to impartiality in order to uphold and maintain the impartiality of the VVB at all times.
- (2) The VVB, or any personnel thereof, shall not advertise or recommend any consulting party to applicants for the purpose of gaining advantages in terms of convenience, expedited services, or reduced service fees.
- (3) Personnel of the VVB shall not accept greenhouse gas validation/verification engagements from applicants to whom they have previously provided consulting services, unless a minimum mandatory gap of three (3) years has elapsed.
- (4) Personnel of the VVB shall not accept greenhouse gas validation/verification engagements from applicants with whom they hold personal relationships, including, but not limited to, family relations, or mentor-mentee relationships, where such relationships may compromise or otherwise affect the maintenance of impartiality in the performance of duties.
- (5) Personnel of the VVB shall not accept greenhouse gas validation/verification engagements from applicants who exhibit threatening, intimidating, or coercive behavior that may compromise or otherwise affect the maintenance of impartiality in the performance of duties.
- (6) The VVB strictly prohibits any single individual among its personnel from conducting both the validation/verification activity and the internal review process for the same application.
